Wine Guide

Where spring starts earlier than elsewhere in Germany and 1,600 sun hours bring golden autumn days, it goes without saying that this region is home to delicious high-quality wines. Not only the classic Riesling grape variety grows on approximately 840 hectares alongside the Hessische und Badische Bergstraße (Hessian and Baden Bergstrasse), but also Weißer Burgunder (Pinot Blanc), Grauer Burgunder (Pinot Gris) and Müller-Thurgau. The grape variety Spätburgunder (Pinot Noir) dominates the field of red wines. Furthermore, the Bergstrasse winegrowers offer, of course, a range of sparkling wines - from traditional bottle fermentation to Secco. This product line-up is completed by fine spirits.

The Bergstrasse offers numerous wine events for all connoisseurs. In spring, the "Bergsträsser Weinfrühling" (Bergstrasse Wine Spring) and in the second half of the year, the "Bergsträsser Weinherbst" (Bergstrasse Wine Autumn) invite you to enjoy the diversity of wine in combination with culinary delights, either on the occasion of the famous Walking-tour through the vineyards or during a wine tasting. And, of course, you are invited to savour Bergstrasse wine on the occasion of one of the numerous Bergstrasse wine festivals.

Riesling
 One of the oldest grape varieties and, there is no doubt, the noblest one. Due to its late maturity, high requirements concerning the growing region have to be met. The special climate at the Bergstrasse is a guarantee for fine, racy and elegant Riesling wines - reaching from QbA to ice wine.
Roter Riesling - Red Riesling
 The historical grape variety is a special feature of the „Bergstraße“ and produces white wine of red grapes with dense aromas.
Grauburgunder (Ruländer) - Pinot Gris
 Its diversity ranges from a tangy version with a fine spirited acidity to a full-bodied and oily-flowing wine. As a mellow wine, Grauburgunder - Pinot Gris ranges from a full-bodied wine up to a noblesweet Drybeerenauslese (a wine made of selected dry berries).
Weißburgunder - Pinot Blanc
 A mutation of grapes of the Burgundy family. Due to its fine spirited acidity, it ranges among Germany's most characterful and full-bodied wines and it is also stored in oak barrels (barrique) for aging.
Müller-Thurgau - Rivaner
 It loves warm loess and loam soil and therefore it ripens to high quality at the sunny Bergstrasse. The fruity and mellow wines are very aromatic and often have a pleasant nutmeg note.
Silvaner
 Rather neutral wines of mild acidity are made of Silvaner grapes. There are also rustic varieties that go along very well with hearty regional food as well as fine wines.
Spätburgunder - Pinot Noir
 This grape, indigenous to the Burgundy, is the leading red wine variety at the Bergstrasse. The "king of red wines" is known for its powerful and characteristic wines.
Dornfelder
 This new red grape variety stands out through its dark, fruity and full-bodied wines of mild acidity.
Portugieser - Portuguese
 This type of wine is an uncomplicated, fresh and smooth one which is nice to drink. Without containing too much tannic acid, it may be enjoyed in spring already.
St. Laurent
 Saint-Laurent wines are fruity, velvety and have strong fruit flavours in the bouquet. Wines of higher quality often mature in oak barrels (barrique).Fruchtaramen im Bukett.

Conquer the „Bergstraße“ on foot or by bike

Bike paths along the „Bergstraße“

The classic bicycle route offers you towns and villages with a big variety of cultural and historical attractions. The „close to nature“ route leads to romantic paths along the grandiose backdrop of the „Bergstraße“ slopes.

Blütenweg and Burgensteig

Both routes lead you on the slopes of the Odenwald through vineyards and forests. Enjoy the flowers or explore castles and palaces.

Your Individual Wine Tasting on the Hessian Bergstrasse.

Are you looking for a special wine tasting on the Bergstrasse? Then rely on our many years of experience in dealing with wine as a diverse luxury food and centuries-old cultural asset. We will take you on an exciting journey into the world of wine and offer you experiences with all your senses. See, smell and taste wine in all its incredible diversity right where it grows, blossoms and thrives.

Red Riesling

The red Riesling (Roter Riesling) is a wine-culinary cuvée of history, culture, geology and enjoyment, which was cultivated in the Middle Ages in Germany – mostly in mixed plants with the white Riesling. Dedicated winegrowers produce extract-rich white wines, sparkling wine and ice wine from the historic red-shelled grape variety. The Bergstrasse is currently the largest cultivation area for red Riesling in Germany with around 15 hectares.

into the region

The regions Bergstrasse, the Kraichgau, the Odenwald in and around Heidelberg are charming landscapes with many local products. Bundling these and making them accessible to consumers is the goal of GeReMo society
and its partners, which is currently being established.
The targets here are more fresh products, short transport routes and support for regional producers.

The BERGSTRASSE

The holiday Route Bergstrasse with its connected hiking- and biking trails and its milde climate is situated between the rivers Rhein, Main and Neckar. More than 30 castles and palaces as well as the UNESCO World Heritage Abbey of Lorsch invite for a stay.

The fanciers of excellent wine and food won't miss anything. The destination between the cities Darmstadt and Heidelberg has a broad cultural choice.
The wine growing-growing district Bergstrasse has much to experience – such as the rarity Red Riesling.

“Here Germany begins
being Italy ...“

Red Riesling

For several years, the winegrowers of the Bergstrasse have been harvesting red Riesling again
on the sunny west slopes of the Odenwald.

They use these grapes to produce a very special type of white wine. The Hessische Bergstrasse is known as “Red Riesling country” because many vintners have included this old but new variety in the range of wines they offer.

Discover the special features of the Bergstrasse grape varieties and the individual winemakers on guided tours and wine tastings in cellars, outdoors, at eateries and festivals.

Heidelberg Wine Experience and the Bergstrasse

The sun-spoiled vineyards around Heidelberg and along the Mountain Road (Bergstrasse) with a Mediterranean-like climate are the reason why many wine lovers like to be regaled with the fine wines from the region.

Our wine experience for groups:

In a traditional restaurant in Heidelberg's old town, a wine expert will give you a delightful tour of the adjoining winegrowing areas, with their characteristic red, rosé and white wines. As a feast for the palate, you will then enjoy a delicious two-course menu in a historically unique atmosphere.

Our tip: Round off your visit to Heidelberg with an excursion to the sun-kissed, idyllic Bergstrasse with its incomparable almond blossom. In addition, we would like to offer you the options of a historic restaurant tour in Weinheim, a visit to the Vinversum in Heppenheim, an exciting adventure tour “History & Wine Culture” in the World Heritage site of Lorsch or another wine tasting in the picturesque town of Schriesheim.

1-3 nights with breakfast:
Price in double room per person from 125,- €;
Single supplement on request.
All year round on request and according to availability for groups of 10-20 persons.
